Chamber plans Farmers barbecue

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce laid plans for their first-ever Farmers Day Barbecue, at last Wednesday's sparsely attended meeting.

Agriculture Committee chairman Dave Yake said he had reserved the Elk Point Golf and Country Club facilities for the event, which is slated for tomorrow evening, Thursday, June 9, beginning at 7:00 p. m.. Everyone is asked to bring along their own steaks, salad, plates and eating utensils, plus a farm couple as their guests. Barbecue facilities and potatoes will be provided. You are reminded to bring along your golf clubs if you wish, as the long summer evenings are a pleasant time to enjoy the course.

Plans for Canada Day are also underway. Wayne Smith said that last year, the merchants who hosted the breakfast served approximately 800 people. This year, with a 24-team slowpitch tournament on as well as the Canada Day festivities, he suggested the Chamber plan for 1000, which he estimated would cost about $700. It was decided that

SENIORS, THIS IS YOUR WEEK! declared Town Councillor Marshall Kachmar, Town of Elk Point representative to the Seniors Foundation Board, as he displayed Heritage Lodge's first birthday cake at last Sunday's Open House, which kicked off Senior Citizens Week in Elk Point.

Town holds line on mill rates

Elk Point Town Council gave first reading Monday night to their 1988 Mill Rates Bylaw, which would see both residential and non-residential mill rates for general municipal operation remain unchanged from 1987 figures. The only increases Elk Point taxpayers will face are in the school requisition and a .594 mill hospital district requisition, both of which are beyond the control of the Town.

Council studied the 1988 budget in considerable detail before approving the first reading, trimming corners even closer in both operational and capital expenses. They even voted to cut $400 per councillor from their own annual wages for attendance at Council, committee and special meetings.

Two-way radios for Town staff were also cut from the budget, while new sidewalk construction beside the Elementary School was deferred until next year, when renovations to the facility are completed. Purchases of a small tractor with mower and snow removal attachments, a used half-ton truck, and two push-type lawn mowers were discussed, but left in the budget.

The Community Tourism Action Plan and Lakeland Team Tourism came under discussion, with Councillors Allan Frankiw and Marshall Kachmar, and Town Administrator Pat Vincent appointed to represent Council on the Community Tourism Committee, which will also have 3 members from the Chamber of Commerce, plus one each from the Historical Society, Elks Lodge and Lions Club.

Frankiw was also delegated to seek a spot on the Team Tourism Steering Committee, which will attempt to set up a zone tourism marketing plan. The Lakeland Tourist Zone is eligible for $1.5 million over the 5 years of the program, to be used for promotion related projects.

Council will advise the Elk Point and District Lions Club, who are organizing the 1988 water safety program at Whitney Lake with the approval of the Municipal Recreation and Cultural Board, that the Town's insurance coverage will be extended to cover this activity.

Heinsburg 4-H steers judged

By Irene Magnusson

The Heinsburg 4-H Multi Club held their Market Steer Beef Class judging, commencing at 2:00 p.m. Saturday, June 4th, at the Skolarchuk Auction Service corrals, west of Whitney Lake. Around 30 parents and friends were on hand to witness the event, as well as Monica King, D. H. E. from St. Paul, and Yvonne Love, 4-H leader from Vermilion.

Paul Kotowich, rancher and 4-H judging expert from St. Paul, was on hand to watch the youngsters put their animals through their paces and to offer helpful comments on their progress.

A good market steer, Kotowich said, will show 'freedom from waste' with no excess fat (or very little), will have 'heavy forearms' and conform in other ways to the market demands. Participants, as part of their training, also do some judging, and Kotowich urged they should always find something 'good' to say about the animals shown, to encourage the exhibitor.

From a start of 9 calves last fall, only four made it into the finals, two in the Junior Class, two in the Senior Class. (Junior 4-H members are 10 to 13 years, Seniors can be 14 to 21 years.)

Winners were: Seniors: Showmanship—Henry Thomson, 1st, Doyle Skolarchuk, 2nd. Conformation—Doyle Skolarchuk, 1st, Henry Thomson, 2nd. Grooming—Doyle Skolarchuk, 1st, Henry Thomson, 2nd.

In the Junior section, Showmanship—C. J. Best, 1st, Lily Thomson, 2nd. Conformation—Lily Thomson, 1st, C. J. Best, 2nd. Grooming—Lily Thomson, 1st, C. J. Best, 2nd.

The Club members were given a chance to judge the steers on display, taking into consideration the advice given by Judge Kotowich, and their standings, after careful deliberation were: for the Juniors—Lily Thomson, 1st; C. J. Best, 2nd. Seniors Judging—Henry Thomson, 1st, Doyle Skolarchuk, 2nd.

The four animals shown were very nice-looking steers, clean and well-fed. The Club members walked them around the ring, lined them up, and in general showed their attributes, with a few moments of rebellion from the weighty steers, who would have rather been in their stalls munching hay.

Ribbons were handed out and some very nice looking trophies went into the winners' hands. Overhead the stormy-looking skies remained dry, no uninvited mosquitoes showed up, and inside the Auction Barn, coffee, juice and squares were in good supply.

These steers will go on display again at the Polaris Arena in St. Paul, along with showings from the large area round about, on June 13th. The doors open at 9 a.m. on that Monday morning, the show will start at 1 o'clock, with Auctioning of all entrants to commence at 6 p.m.

4-H Market Steers are selected and cared for by the members from November, until the judging date, in this case June 4th. They are weighed at the commencement of the period, and fed, groomed and trained by the Club members. Rate of Gain will be known when the animals are sold and weighed at the Auction.

Awards offered by the Heinsburg

Multi-Club were donated by the Club and by the Capistrano Ranch. Congratulations to the winners, and to the parents, a worthwhile project brought to completion.

The other half of the Multi-Club program in Heinsburg is Computers, with six active members involved.

this works out to approximately $25 per corporate or business member, with plans made to collect this in much the same way as was done for the Christmas Extravaganza. Hours for the breakfast were set at 7 to 10 a.m.. A permanent sandwich-board type sign announcing the pancake breakfast is being considered.

The Chamber noted that the ball tournament will mean a large influx of people coming to town that weekend, and decided to approach the Town of Elk Point for permission to use the CNR trackage east of 50 St. as a temporary campground that weekend.

Plans for the Chamber beerfest on the evening of Saturday, July 2, were also discussed.

A Reason to Celebrate

They cleared the land, raised their families, established schools, churches, industries and townships. They created new laws and opportunities — laid the cornerstones for our current energetic communities and prosperous centres. They are our neighbors, associates, friends and relatives. They are our SENIORS, one of our most valuable and important resources.

The legacy of their vision, tenacity and hard work has meant an enviable lifestyle for those of us who benefit by being Alberta residents today.

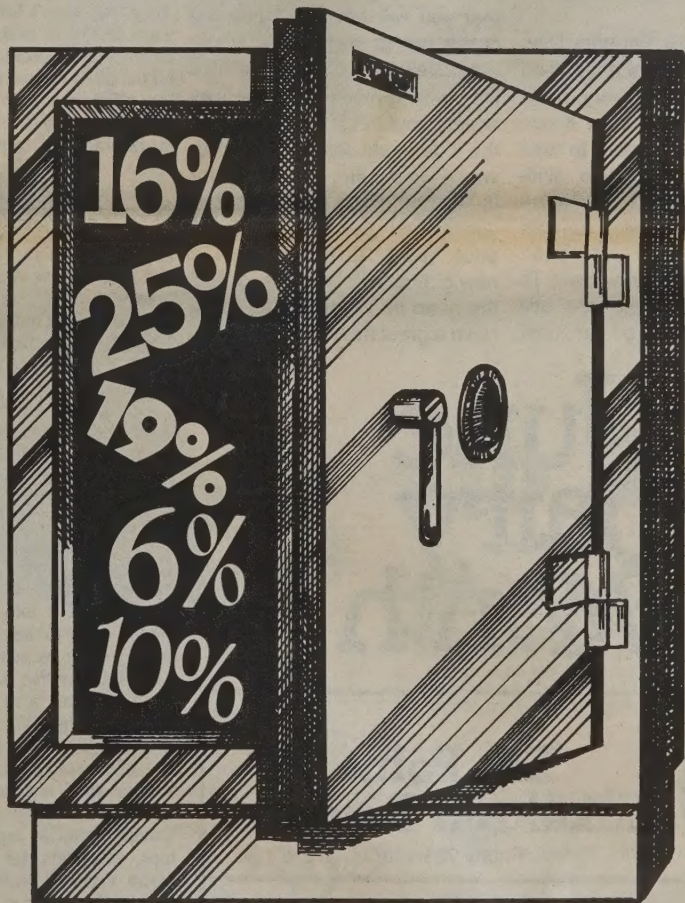

This is why the first full week of June has been set aside since 1985 to celebrate and say thank you.

Spearheaded by the Provincial Senior Citizens Advisory Council with the assistance of the Senior Citizens Secretariat, the theme for SENIOR CITIZENS WEEK this year is SENIORS: Active in the Community. The goals and objectives remain the same: to recognize and honor senior citizens in Alberta; to highlight the positive contributions that seniors are making in their communities; to promote understanding and encourage positive attitudes toward seniors.

Interest charges and service fees should be closely examined whenever you are in the market for credit.

Rates vary greatly and the methods of calculating interest and services differ from one institution to another.

It is your right—and in your best interest—to know precisely how much credit is costing you!

You should always compare carefully such things as:

- the interest rate being charged
- the amount of time allowed to pay in full before interest is charged
- how the interest charges are calculated
- the non-interest charges such as transaction or service fees
- the competitive benefits offered by one institution over another

Salutations

This week, a number of salutations are in order wishes for a successful season.

First of all, it's Senior Citizens Week. This growing portion of our population is warmly thanked for all their past contributions, and for the way they keep right on contributing to our community in so many ways. They have set us a shining example with their years of toil and the way they built and developed this area for us and for future generations to enjoy.

Secondly, tomorrow marks the 40th Anniversary celebrations at the Canadian Salt Plant. This plant serves up one of our unique natural resources to people in a large area of the globe, and makes us proud that our area can supply one of the necessities of life. The people who manage and work at the plant are a valued part of our community.

Then, Friday is Farmers Day. Being a farmer is not a life filled with fun, wealth and glory, but it brings the satisfaction of knowing that you are helping to feed the people of this nation. With high input costs and minimal returns on investments, farmers are becoming fewer each year, through no fault of their own. To the hardy souls who are still 'hanging in there', go our best

Saturday and Monday are two important days in the lives of another group of our citizens: the 4-Hers. These young people, aged 10 to 21, follow the motto of 'learn to do by doing', and in the process learn many valuable lessons to prepare them for life. To their leaders, who give freely of their time to help these kids on their way, and to the parents who support their efforts so wholeheartedly, a huge vote of thanks. To the members of the various clubs, we know you can't all win the Grand Championship ribbon, but to us you're all winners, because you give your projects your very best efforts.

Coming up in just over a week is Fathers Day. May all you Dads out there get to enjoy your special day with your families, and without the gift of strange ties that you will have to make excuses not to wear for a whole year. New golf clubs, or a nice little trolling motor would be way better, wouldn't they? Of course, the kids might need a large advance on their allowance for this—so if they come asking, you'll know it's so they can surprise you—unless they have a new girlfriend to impress, or feel the need of a extra large pizza! Have a great day, Dads!

Making things better

By Irene Magnusson
Alberta Trails

Human beings have an almost uncontrollable urge to 'fix' things - often when they aren't broken. We are always trying to make things better, faster, easier, smaller or larger, and all too often we end up making them less efficient, slower, harder, (smaller or larger I'll give you) but the one all-pervading 'improvement' we make is - things will cost more.

Take a couple of small implements that many of us use every day. (And at times I wish someone would - physically - take them, as they are a pain. But then I have nothing to replace them with.)

For one thing there is the rototiller. About 25 years ago, we bought a rototiller. It cost about $125, and it worked. I could start it with one yank of the cord, even after it sat outside in the weather, covered only with a cardboard box, for the whole of the long cold winter. Even before I changed the oil or drained out the 'old' gas.

Then I could slip it into gear, back it up (Yes, I said BACK it up) to wherever I wanted to till, accelerate the gas, put it into gear - and till. When I came to the end of the row, or for any other reason, I could change gears into reverse, and turn, or back up. There was also a guide, which dragged in the earth, to regulate how deep the tillers would go, and to keep it running nice and straight.

Great stuff, eh? Just what the doctor ordered. They even made the handles about as high as a person's hips, just right for easy use. And many a mile I walked behind that great little machine, up and down the garden rows, before and after seeding. It also dug my flower beds, and quite a few diggings for others too. It was, to say the least, useful.

But the years pass, and like everything else, my little machine grew old, and one day it died and would not be resurrected. There was nothing to do but look for a replacement.

Things got rather odd. In the first place, although it was only June, I found the shops had stored their rototillers for the season already. Or had sold out and not ordered more. I guess we are to buy our garden equipment in March or January, as we do our Christmas stuff about the first of September. To me, the time to buy things is when I need them.

But at last I found a place which admitted they had one stored away. I looked at it, thinking it was a bit large, but having little choice, as the weeds didn't know I'd lost my old reliable tiller, and just kept on growing. I bought it, and conned some kids into bringing it home for me in their truck.

After adding gas and oil, lowering the handle as far as possible, turning the tiller blades, so it would only cut a two-foot swath, instead of three, I got it started and tried it out. The old one I could 'walk' over the lawn any place, with just a touch on the handle to steer it, and leave no mark. This one took off like a wounded deer, and at the first touch to control it, started to make mincemeat of my lawn. It refuses to be slowed down, so unless I'm ready to take off at a lope, I'd better keep it off the grass.

I got it into the garden, set the guide at a shallow depth (I thought) as I like to cultivate only about two inches deep, for the weeds. This machine knows no such depth. If it isn't at six inches, it is at eight. If I hold it back, it will keep on going down - perhaps for yards. Deeper and deeper. Then the guide has no 'guide' of its own, so flops wilfully back and forth, yanking me about, the whole machine bucking up and down, so the under-pan in my garden is corrugated. What this activity does to my arms, I hesitate to say. It is really not nice.

The worst part of it is that I have to arch my arms in a most uncomfortable fashion, just to get this silly machine into gear, as they refrained from putting a gear lever on it, that you could shove in and leave it go, but rather it has one you have to HOLD DOWN with your hand at all times. The second you let loose of it (and with all the bucking it does, my hand flies off ten times a row) the stupid thing stops dead in its tracks. Then you have to grab that lever and force it down again.

But the cruelest thing of all is - it has no reverse! When you come to the end of the row, or find it has wandered into the beans and is hooking them out in droves, you have to grasp those high-and-wide rough rubber handles and drag that beast around in the soft earth by brute force to turn it.

Now if they could put a reverse, a gear shift, and a decent control in a nice little machine they could sell for $125, twenty five years ago, how come they can't do it today, for $599?

I'll tell you why. Somebody decided to 'fix' it. It wasn't broken, but so what? Fix it, anyway. No one will accept that something can be GOOD, just the way it is, use the same pattern and make some more good things to replace the ones that wear out.

Just to mention the other thing they 'fixed' lately, that I have had experience with, have you tried to buy a new electric typewriter lately? I don't think they make them anymore. They have decided - without asking ME - that we no longer want electric typewriters. So they have 'made them better' - i. e. we now can only have 'electronic' typewriters, full of gadgets and unbelievable junk, which I sometimes think I can spend the rest of my life trying to master - and still come out in the failure class.

Just for example - when you get to my age, your hands don't fly so softly and lightly over the noisy keys. So just the merest nudge has this little monster gobbling the words I've just written right off the page. Then if my hand rests ever so slightly on the keys, all will turn to CAPITALS, and this looks very odd in the middle of a sentence when you didn't want it there at all. Then, too, it flies back to start over without a bit of urging on my part, startling me out of my spelling.

I guess those who grow up on this kind of a machine, will be pleased with it. I would be glad to have my old one in use, if I could find someone smart enough to 'fix' one broken letter - but three shops have tried, and claim failure as their results. The company which made it had their geniuses so busy 'making things better' they had no time to make a few spare parts for the last set of creations. And try to guess where the spare parts will come from for these 'better' machines!!!

There are so many things mankind has tried to 'make better' over the years, as for instance those 'hard-boiled' pillows Sharon Stredwick mentioned in her last-week column. I know exactly what she meant, and would you believe, those are the pillows used on patients in our hospitals.

Over the years, I have carried softer, feather-filled pillows to three of my relatives who were patients. These were all of them aged persons, unable to defend themselves, ill and suffering, and then tortured by having to lie on these lumpy, hard, stiff pillows.

Someone MUST remember that pillows should be stuffed with feathers? And surely, with all the chickens we do in, there must be enough feathers to fill every pillow in the country? I know they don't wear out, for I sleep on pillows filled with feathers that I have used for fifty years, and they are still soft and fluffy, and have never given me the stiff neck and aching head a 'plastic' pillow will bring on in an hour's time.

And if someone is allergic to feathers - they could still make a SOFT plastic pillow. I've seen lots of soft plastic, so why make defenseless ill persons lie on hard, lumpy pillows? Or are you trying to 'fix' them?

What's news at Elk Point Library

The SUMMER READING PROGRAM is back! This year's theme is 'A Lean Keen Reading Machine.' If you're into fitness and fun, this is the program for you. The program starts on July 4 and proceeds for 8 weeks of summer enjoyment! There are two programs, one for preschoolers and one for elementary school age. Some of the activities we will be doing are nature walks, games, dances, bubble painting, making and flying kites, and much more. The programs last for about an hour and one half each week. During this time the children will be supervised and have a lot of fun. For more information or suggestions, please contact Kris Ann Maas at the library.

Starting July 7 the library will also be showing movies at 2:00 every Thursday afternoon. Kids of any age are welcome to come, but the movies are geared for the elementary school children. Some of the movies selected were 'The Princess Bride', 'The Last Starfighter', 'Black Beauty', and 'Harry and the Hendersons.' There is no fee to come and watch and some refreshments will be available.

This summer we are also implementing a new program for older citizens in the community. Michelle Whitlock, the library's new program coordinator will be heading the program. The purpose of this new program is to make seniors more aware of the services offered to them, to get them more interested in reading, and to take suggestions on other services they would like made available in the library. Michelle will be giving presentations to the Hospital, Heritage Lodge, Buckingham House and Fort George Manor. Hopefully, we will have volunteers to help run these programs and come up with new ideas by the end of the summer.

If you are interested in getting involved with either of these programs, have some new ideas, or would like some information—please come down and see us at the library.

Clandonald Grade 9 class holds spring prom

By Shirley Osinchuk

On Friday, June 3, 1988, with the school gym decorated in turquoise, yellow and white flowers, balloons and streamers, the ten girls and one boy of the Grade 9 class, Clandonald, celebrated their 'graduation' from Junior to Senior High.

Principal, Mrs. Doreen Parke, introduced each student. Her introduction, and the 'class history', presented by the students themselves, soon proved why this group is so close-knit. Pranks, sports wins, a trip to

Quebec last Easter, memories for life, of their early school years. They sang together, one more time, 'That's What Friends Are For.' Barb Elich was their accompanist.

Congratulations and best wishes as you go on to high school and careers.

Joanne McNamara top Junior Achiever

By Shirley Osinchuk

Joanne McNamara, a Grade 12 student at St. Jerome's School, has been President of the Vermilion Junior Achievement Club, 'On Our Own', this year. She and fellow Clandonald member Sharmon Radesh have been selling their product, gift baskets, and have spent long unseen hours working at their business. Joanne was top salesman in the Northern Alberta Area, only one of two people to sell over $1000 worth of merchandise. Her sales were $1750 worth of gift baskets.

On Friday, April 29, Joanne shared the position of Master of Ceremonies with John Shepherd of Edmonton, at the Junior Achievement Banquet in the Edmonton Convention Centre. About 500 people were in attendance, including members of the Chamber of Commerce, who sponsor Junior Achievement, the Honorable Peter Elzinga, and Alderman Terry Cavanaugh.

Joanne had been interviewed by a panel of judges and written tests on presenting a product and overall business knowledge. As a result, she was runner-up for President of the Year.

Five Northern Alberta Junior Achievement members, including

Joanne, won a trip to London, Ontario.

Joanne received a pin for highest sales in Northern Alberta, and the Vermilion Club received the 'Company of the Year' award, and a total of four trophies. Joanne won two national awards. The Mary Kay Great Sales Award has been presented to her for the second and fourth quarters, making her top salesperson in Canada, setting a national record. The Vermilion Club's program director Donna Bentley received special recognition, and Fred Cartwright, company treasurer, won the Salesperson of the Year award.

Congratulations to these hard working business people of the future. You are an asset to our community.

JOANNE McNAMARA won several prestigious awards for her efforts in Junior Achievement.

Canada Post Corporation

Keeping our commitment in rural Canada

Canada's rural communities are vital to Canada Post. In fact, one of the most important parts of our commitment is making postal products and services more accessible to rural Canadians. To help us do this, we plan to use the resources and the expertise of the private sector. Where practical, we are approaching local business people in communities across the country offering them the opportunity to provide you with postal products and services through their businesses. As a result, you will be able to buy postal products or services in attractive locations at convenient hours, often including evenings and weekends.

*Change: the more you understand,
the more you'll agree*

Certain groups see our changes as an erosion of postal services in rural communities such as yours. Nothing could be further from the truth. By allowing local merchants to operate retail postal outlets, postal services as a whole will be more accessible – and more efficient – than ever before. In the long run it will help us keep postal rates reasonable and leave the way clear for Canada Post to preserve their presence in rural Canada.

Simply stated, by using retail merchants to sell stamps and other postal products and services, Canada Post can concentrate on what it does best: picking-up, processing and delivering the mail in a cost-effective way that benefits all Canadians, rural and urban alike.

Real benefits for everyone

– Nothing to lose –

Consultation For a start, we will engage in at least a 90-day consultation period involving all of our customers in your community, including your municipal authorities.

Jobs Changes are being made when natural opportunities occur, such as when a postmaster resigns, retires or is promoted. No postmaster has lost a job as a result of this program.

Identity The postal identity and name of your community will be preserved intact on signage and for addressing purposes.

Security Retail outlets will be bound by contract to maintain the same security and sanctity of mail standards as Canada Post.

Commitment, service More and more, retail postal outlets will be operated by local business people who already have strong roots in your community and share with you the same interest in maintaining high postal standards, and where possible, improving them. Local delivery service will be maintained.

– Everything to gain –

More outlets The objective is to increase the number of rural locations where you can access postal products or services from 5,000 to 7,000 and nationally by a third to 18,000.

More convenience Retail postal outlets will be conveniently located in a business close to other services in your community. Longer business hours will give you even more flexibility.

More business for local merchants

Opportunities for local merchants to provide postal products or services will strengthen the community's business base.

More efficient service By utilizing local merchants' retail experience, Canada Post will be able to concentrate on reliable pick-up, processing and delivery of mail to Canadians.

*Canada Post is in rural Canada to stay.
That's a promise.*
